Red Negotiators Warn U. N. Must Change Demands Before Parley Will Make Any Progress

Munsan, Korea, Aug. 12.—(P)—The chief Communist armistice negotiator said tonight Korean truce talks "will not make any progress" unless the United Nations changes its demands on where to create a buffer zone.

The statement from North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il was broadcast by the Red Pyongyang radio ten hours after he had again refused to change his own demands.

The Red position is so firmly fixed that in Monday's negotiation session Nam Il rejected a United Nations statement as "not satisfactory" as soon as it was delivered.

And, a U. N. communiqué said, Nam Il made the rejection while "speaking from a previously prepared and translated paper."

In the Pyongyang broadcast Nam Il called on the U. N. delegation "to change its attitude" and "to take into consideration our demands" for a buffer zone along the 38th parallel.

He said if the Kaesong truce negotiations are to "make any progress at all" U. N. delegates must "change their distorted demands they have made up to now."

U. N. spokesmen have made it clear that the Allies will not consider a demarcation line on the 38th parallel. They say the Reds must change their stand if negotiations are to progress.

No progress was made in today's one hour and 20 minute session—the 13th devoted to the same question.

Communist delegates again rejected every United Nations attempt to break the deadlock.

Russian Strength Is Not Frightening To General Eisenhower

Washington, Aug. 12.—(P)—Senators generally were considerably perked up today by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's reported assertion that it is "ridiculous" to be overly frightened by Russia's military strength.

But Senator Hunt (D-Wyo.), a member of the Armed Services Committee, told a reporter he hopes the North Atlantic Defense Command's estimate of comparable free world and iron curtain strength doesn't "tall congress to sleep."

"I can agree with the general that the free world has a great preponderance of material, intellectual, spiritual, technical and professional resources," Hunt said, "but I hope that doesn't lull us into a peaceful sleep we were enjoying before the Korean war started."

Eisenhower's views were in a subcommittee report prepared for the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. These groups are meeting jointly to consider the administration's $8,500,000,000 foreign aid bill.

The report said Eisenhower acknowledged the Soviet bloc has a unity lacking by the North Atlantic treaty nations but said it was brought about "by a gun and a sword held forever behind a man's back ready to chop off his head."

To gain real unity, the senators said, Eisenhower told them the job is to convince every nation and man participating in western Europe's defenses that "we are approaching this thing from the standpoint of enlightened self-interest."

Derby Champ to be on Radio and TV Tonight

Akron, O., Aug. 12.—(P)—Darwin Cooper—the Soapbox Derby champ—will appear tonight on a radio and television show sponsored by Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

The youngster left here by plane this morning with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper, for a four-day tour of New York. They will stay at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, see a Brooklyn-New York Giants baseball game and a Broadway musical show.

He will be on the Voice of Firestone program over NBC at 8:30 p. m., Eastern Daylight Time.

Thursday he and his family will fly to Williamsport, Pa., near his home at Danville.

Big Crowds Attend Airport Dedication

The flat top of Mount Alton was the scene of great activity, Saturday and Sunday, when the new McKean-Bradford Airport was dedicated in a two-day celebration which drew thousands from several states.

Two visits by four large Air Force FB-29's highlighted the aerial demonstration, but the arrivals of United and American passenger planes, a large United cargo liner, and hundreds of privately-owned planes also kept the spectators' eyes up for the two days.

Well served and cleverly arranged was the banquet in the large hangar, Saturday night. Each guest was served in true flying style, individual passenger liner trays having been sent in by the two commercial lines. State and national dignitaries were guests of honor and the many who aided in the procurement and construction of the airport were introduced.

Senator James S. Berger of Coudersport, former Warren resident, had a prominent part.

A Sunday morning breakfast for visiting pilots started off the second day's activities.

Gen. Ridgway Has Little Confidence In Cease-Fire Talks Now On at Kaesong

Washington, Aug. 12.—(P)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, United Nations commander in Korea, apparently hasn't much confidence in the cease-fire talks now going on at Kaesong.

But he's banking heavily on the fighting spirit of his men, if the talks fail.

In an interview published today by the Magazine U. S. News and World Report, Ridgway said:

"The ceaseless flow of falsehoods, perversion and slanted statements which continue to emanate from Communist-controlled public information media, together with the long record of Communist duplicity, deceit and faithlessness in contractual obligations, have dissolved all doubts in the minds of members of this command as to Communist objectives."

"The members of the United Nations command will now judge Communist intentions not by words, but by performance. This performance to date has produced concrete evidence of honest, peaceful intentions. Our forces know why they fight and their spirits were never higher."

Of American fighting men, Ridgway said: "He is unsurpassed in the world."

The interview between Washington and Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo was conducted by teletype.

SLAIN BY DETECTIVE

Altoona, Aug. 12.—(P)—State Police said today a man fatally injured by a Pennsylvania Railroad detective has been identified as James Hudson Kelly, 42, of Durbin, N. C. Kelly, who died Saturday, was shot last Thursday by Detective Richard Hostler said he had at Kelly after the man pulled a knife on him when he ordered him from a railroad gondola. Kelly was a Negro.

Senator Predicts "Ike" Will Sweep the "Open" Presidential Primary in Spring

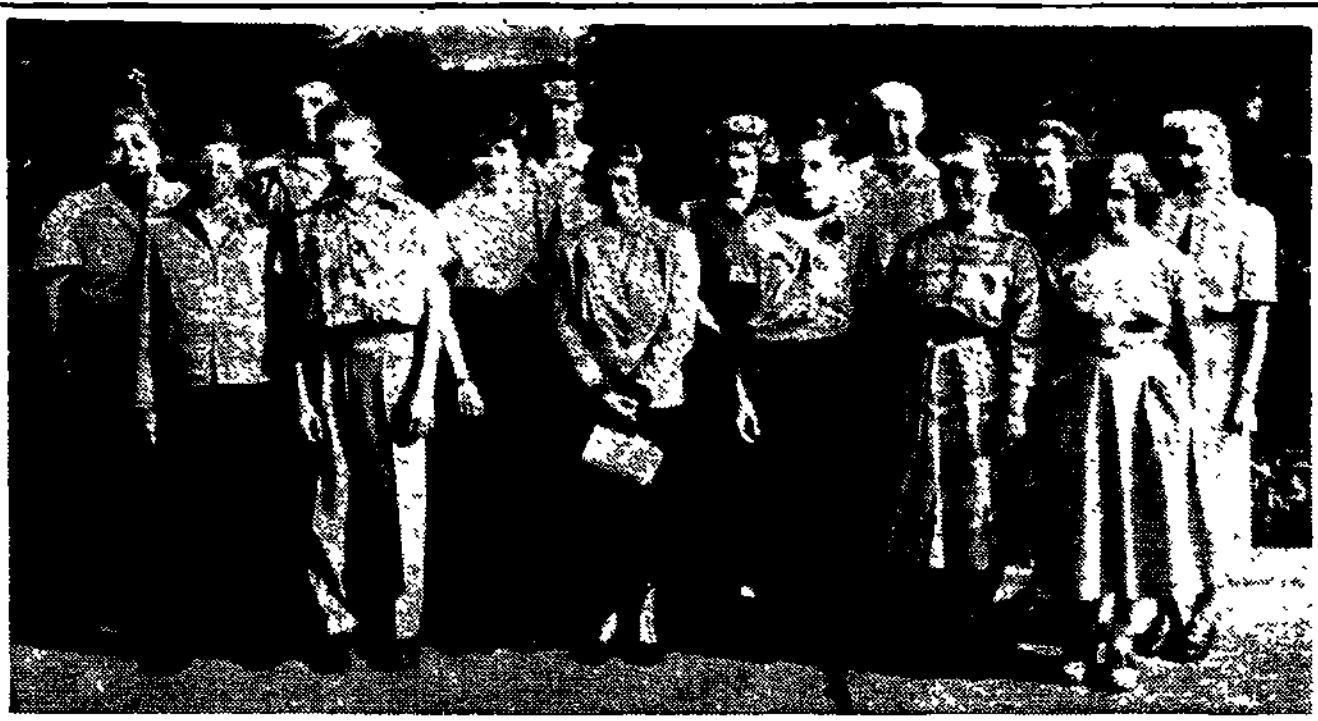

Washington, Aug. 12.—(P)—Senator Thye (R-Minn.) predicted today that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower will sweep Minnesota's "open" presidential primary next spring, if his name is entered.

California's Democratic organization Saturday endorsed President Truman for re-election.

And Senator Cain (R-Wash.) said Senator Taft (R-Ohio) would be elected president if he got the Republican nomination. Cain, interviewed on a television program, declined to say, however, whether Taft was his personal choice.

The California move to back Mr. Truman was made by the executive committee of the Democratic state central committee which noted in a resolution that state election codes gives it the

Compromise Tax Program Is Prepared for Presentation

Harrisburg, Aug. 12.—(P)—A compromise tax program expected to produce over $150,000,000 in new state revenue was prepared for presentation to the senate Republican caucus today.

The new tax package was made up by a special six-man senate republican committee as a substitute for Gov. John S. Fine's defeated income tax proposal.

Sen. T. Newell Wood (R-Luzerne), committee chairman, said the proposed new tax program would be handed over to the senate GOP caucus today after final details are worked out.

"We know just about what we want to do," Wood told a newsman, "it is just a question of working out a few final details."

The compromise committee was set up to prepare an alternate program after the senate finance committee voted last week to shelve the income levy for the session.

Wood declined to say how much money the alternate tax program would produce in the next two years, but stated:

"It will furnish amply the means for meeting the governor's budget as well as taking care of all of our own pet projects."

The governor is seeking some $110,000,000 in new revenue to fill a gap in his budget expected to be $100,000,000.

Four Have a Close Call on Lake Erie

Erie, Aug. 12.—(P)—Four members of a Buffalo, N. Y., family were rescued from their burning cabin cruiser by two boys yesterday minutes before the $40,000 craft sank about three miles off the Lake Erie shore.

The Coast Guard said Walter L. Minicler, 53, was piloting his cruiser to Cleveland after staying overnight at the Erie Yacht Club. Aboard were his wife, Catherine, 50, his son, Charles, 13, and a stepdaughter, Marion Bidell, 26.

Two North Springfield boys, Joseph Greer, 14, and Howard Lepold, 12, rushed to the blazing cruiser in an outboard motor boat and removed all aboard.

Coast Guardsmen said the motor of the cruiser became overheated and exploded about 20 miles west of Erie, setting fire to the craft.

THUMBS DOWN ON LOW HEMS ON COAST

Los Angeles, Aug. 12.—(P)—A top California fashion authority today said thumbs down to Paris' decree of hems down.

The word from Paris is longer skirts especially since Christian Dior came out recently endorsing the trend. That makes it official in the fashion-conscious French capital.

But G. Peter Rosenfeld, president of the California Fashion Creators, said his association will resist the trend.

"American women have the most beautiful legs in the world. Why hide them?" asks Rosenfeld.

Southern Pine War Games Open With Mythical Attack by Enemy Aggressor

Fort Bragg, N. C., Aug. 12.—(P)—Exercise Southern Pine war games opened today with a mythical enemy aggressor trying to break through a defending U. S. force and capture the Raleigh-Durham industrial area.

The two-week maneuver involving about 10,000 troops and aircraft is America's biggest field training test since World War II. Many of the ground troops will leave for Germany this fall to join Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact Army.

The mock war is being fought in the pine-wooded sandhills surrounding Fort Bragg in south central North Carolina near Fayetteville. Troops and planes of a make-believe enemy have pulled a sneak invasion of the South Carolina coast and are moving up toward Fort Bragg. They have aimed an armored spearhead, Raleigh-Durham about 60 miles north of the fort. The maneuver

Boys Held By FBI and Police Admit Sending Threatening Letter to Resident of Warren

Latest methods of detection and extensive investigation today led Mike Evan, chief of the Warren Borough Police, and an agent from the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Pittsburgh, to the solution of an attempt to extort $5,000 from Mrs. Helen Pendleton Rockwell, prominent Warren woman.

It also led to the apprehension of two Warren boys, one 15 and the other 16, who have admitted having written the extortion note. The thorough and methodical investigation, which has been conducted since the note was received on June 15, has been withheld from the public until today. The F. B. I. representative arrived in Warren at 12:30 this afternoon. He and Chief Evan were still closeted with the two boys at press time and it is possible this session may result in still further implications.

In the note, which was sent through the U. S. mail, Mrs. Rockwell's life was threatened unless she left $5,000 in cash at the General Joseph Warren monument, which is near her home at 503 Third avenue, west.

Since that time, the Rockwell mansion has been closely watched by the police department from various points of vantage.

Through a joint investigation conducted by Chief Evan and the F. B. I. representative, it was determined that the extortion note was written on a Woodstock typewriter. In the meantime, and while the Rockwell home was being guarded, it was ascertained that there are but six Woodstock typewriters in Warren. Chief Evan learned, after exhaustive questioning, that a certain boy whom he had begun to suspect, had access to a Woodstock typewriter and when Chief Evan confronted the boy with this statement and with other facts, the boy readily admitted his guilt and implicated another teen-age youth.

Today's secret session with the boys is expected to bring out exactly what prompted them to threaten Mrs. Rockwell, and it is possible there may be another angle brought out. The boys have told Chief Evan they wrote the note in the belief the recent death of Mrs. Rockwell's husband, Albert Rockwell, prominent industrialist, had resulted in a large inheritance for her. They told Chief Evan they felt the demand for $5,000 was modest in itself, "and but a nominal request."

Patrol Bomber Is Missing in Alaska

Kodiak, Alaska, Aug. 12.—(P)—The Navy reported early today an Alaska-based four-engine bomber with 12 men aboard has been missing since its last position report at 10:14 a. m. (3:14 p. m., EST) Sunday.

The Kodiak-based Privateer was on a routine operational mission when it vanished.

Names of three officers and nine enlisted men in the crew have not been released.

The big plane's gasoline supply would have been exhausted at 9:43 p. m. last night, 14 hours after it took off from Kodiak.

The Navy declined to give the location of the bomber when it was last heard from.

Fog and rain hampered the search which was started as soon as the Privateer was presumed lost.

The PB 4-Y-2 is the third plane for which search is being made in the Alaskan region.

Sister Kenny Has Incurable Disease

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 12.—(P)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny, a leader in the fight against polio, told a Sydney Sun reporter today she is incurably ill and has little time left in this world.

The world famous nurse did not name the disease with which she has been stricken, but the reporter said she was shaking and looked ill.

Miss Kenny, who is 65, said she would continue her fight against the ravages of polio "until I die."

She will leave Thursday for the United States en route to an international poliomyelitis conference in Copenhagen, Denmark. She will be under a nurse's care on the trip.

Her journey to the United States is eased by the fact that the American Congress, in a special bill, granted her the "freedom of the United States."

Miss Kenny lived in the United States from 1940 until February of this year when she returned to her old home in Toowoomba, Queensland.

Army Says Guilty Cadets Must Resign

West Point, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(P)—The Army was holding firm today to its stand that there will be no honorable discharges for cadets found guilty of violating the military academy's honor code.

There has been a strong movement, launched last week by Head Coach Earl (Red) Blaik, to allow the accused cadets to leave the academy without the stigma contained or implied in other forms of dismissal.

A restatement of the Army's position came yesterday with an official announcement that final hearings should be completed early this week on the 90 cadets facing dismissal for cribbing on examinations.

Irving had said that cadets admitting guilt under oath would be given a chance to resign. Those refusing to resign, he said, would be discharged by administration order.

COHEN SURRENDERS

Washington, Aug. 12.—(P)—Louis Cohen, much sought by the senate crime committee which calls him a gambler, walked into the office of Chairman O'Connor (D-Md.), today to accept an order hailing him before the group. Cohen, a stocky gray-haired figure who looks like a properous businessman, had two lawyers with him who said they would do all the talking. The group found O'Connor was out of the office, and sat to await his return.

Senators Involved in MacArthur Probe Apparently at Abrupt Parting of Way

Washington, Aug. 12.—(P)—Senators who spent almost two months investigating the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur have apparently come to an abrupt parting of the way over the need of a report on their findings.

Yesterday Senator Cain (R-Wash.) said flatly that he and seven other members of the two inquiry committees, armed services and foreign relations, have already signed a report.

But on Saturday Senator Russell (D-Ga.), who ran the 2,000,000-word hearings, repeated what he said before—that he thinks no report is needed.

However, Russell told a reporter he would call a meeting of the joint committee soon to make a final decision.

Cain, appearing on an NBC television show, did not identify the senators who he said joined him in his report.

It was learned early last month that Cain was working on a preliminary report blasting President Truman for firing the Far East Commander and declaring that MacArthur's Korean war program was "the only positive program" for winning the war.

Cain said then he was representing "six or seven" Republicans.

But all Cain would say is that the report outlines the signers' views as to mistakes made in the Far East.

He said the eight would submit it to the joint committee for approval but would make it public whether approved or not.

LONGEST TELETYPE CHANNEL IN WORLD

Tokyo, Aug. 12.—(P)—The longest news teletype channel in the world opened on an experimental basis today when newspaper subscribers in Tokyo received the Associated Press report direct from New York, 9,000 miles away.

For just over one hour newspapers in Japan and the United States received the same stories at the same time. It was 2:15 a. m. EST in New York when the unprecedented service started that was 5:15 p. m. in Tokyo.

Japan and other far eastern points began receiving the AP report via radio teletype service from San Francisco yesterday. Today that circuit was connected in San Francisco with the main United States trunk line, and "A" wire

Boys' Car Contest Held at Playgrounds On Wednesday; Attendance Is Large

The boys at the various playgrounds having stepped into the background while the girls conducted their doll contests, the boys will now step back into the center of the stage and will put on an automobile (toy car) contest, on Wednesday.

Each playground will have its own contest on the same day, and there will be no finals in this competition. The cars must belong to those who enter them and each boy may enter as many as he wishes. The judges will be named between today and Wednesday by the playground instructors.

Cars will be judged for the following: largest car, smallest car, funniest car, best handmade car, oldest car, foreign car, largest number of cars entered, and most unique car.

There are a number of special events scheduled for this week. Circus day will be observed tomorrow at South Side Playgrounds, and on Wednesday there will be an ice cream social at West Side Playgrounds, and the proceeds will go toward installing a wading pool. The Home Street Playgrounds will hold a Mardi Gras, Wednesday evening.

Among next week's events will be a Yo-Yo Contest at Beaty, Monday, August 20, and there will be a Wild West round-up at all playgrounds on Thursday, August 23. The pyro racing for lanyards has been received and will be distributed at all playgrounds this week.

Because of the good weather, attendance was very high at the playgrounds during the past week, as the following resume will show:

Sheffield Marine Sergeant Home for 25-Day Furlough

Sheffield, Aug. 13—Marine Sergeant Charles Doroties, who has been in Korea since September 15, 1950, arrived home last week on a 25-day furlough. He will be stationed at Washington, D. C., after his visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Doroties, Sr.

A member of the First Signal Battalion of the First Marine Division, Doroties has seen action beginning with the landing at Inchon and until July 10 when he left Korea, arriving in San Francisco, Calif., on August 1.

He has served with the Marine Corps for three years.

Supervised play at the Sheffield Memorial playground ended Saturday for the season with Harry Hutchings, playground supervisor, reporting more than 750 persons each week taking advantage of the facilities at the playground during the past six weeks.

Failure to establish a Hot Stove league here this year at the playground was attributed to the lack of adult interest. More than 50 boys had signed with Hutchings to play baseball but when efforts to obtain adult supervision failed, further plans were shelved for the league.

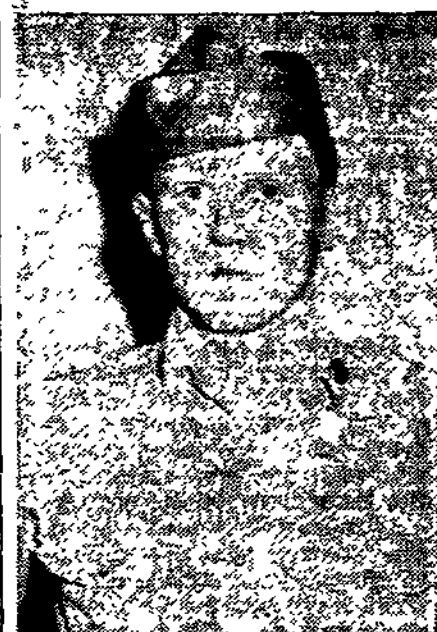

The Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary will meet Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. in Cederlof hall with Mrs. Robert A. Persche and Mrs. J. P. Haser as the hostesses.

Sgt. Wm. Johnson Going to Germany

J., for transfer to Munich, Germany, where he will attend engineering school. He has been in the Army for six years and saw active duty in the South Pacific.

Plans for Training Another Class of Nurses Aides Announced by Red Cross

Announcement has been made by the Warren Chapter of the American Red Cross of plans for the training of another class of Nurses Aides to start as early in September as possible. In this connection those in charge remind that the Red Cross is now ready to take names of applicants who may phone headquarters, 2926, or write. Persons interested may register by giving name, address and phone number. This is registration time only. Application blanks will follow in about a week.

Mrs. Marian Coyle, RN, who taught the pioneer class of Volunteer Nurses aides in January, 1942; the first class to be trained in Warren County, will again be in charge.

Whether or not day or night classes are held will depend on the demand of the applicants which will include housewives and business women. If enough persons are interested, both will be taught, probably one starting about the first of September, followed by the second after the first of the year.

Classes will take from nine to eleven weeks to complete, so it is urgent that they be started immediately.

Interested persons will be kept informed both by press and radio, as to date when to report to Red Cross headquarters for further details, such as filling in application blanks, interviews, etc.

It is emphasized by those in charge that all that is desired at present is the home address and telephone numbers of women interested, and this information is needed immediately.

The specific training course for the Volunteer Nurse's Aide Service is an intensive eighty hour plan, 34 hours of which is class work given by a registered nurse, 40 hours of supervised practice in the hospital and six hours orientation to the hospital situation. After completion of the course regulation uniforms are worn and these can be purchased through the local Red Cross Chapter.

The Red Cross is anxious to have women from nearby communities such as Youngsville, Sheffield and North Warren respond so that a plan could be worked out for these aides to serve the Bloodmobile when in their community.

Applicants should be between 18-35 and have a High School education or its equivalent. Application blanks can be secured at the Warren Chapter of the National Red Cross, Market St., Warren, Penn'a.

The following appeal to women of Warren and vicinity to enroll in this project was issued by those in charge:

"It is hoped that a large number of women will volunteer for this worthy cause. We are again facing an international crisis, and should be willing and ready to do our part by serving our own community. It is a well known fact that a well trained and organized group is an asset to any community in peace or war. Let us be prepared for any emergency that could confront us."

GOING BACK 51 YEARS AGO

In connection with the fifty-first anniversary of the Times Publishing Company, founded August 13, 1900, it is interesting to reprint an article from the editorial columns of The Evening Times of fifty years ago today, which recalls the days when this paper first appeared. For instance:

Fifty-one years ago ---

Folks boiled coffee and settled it with an egg. Ladies rode sidesaddle.

When preachers uttered a truth, the congregation chorused, "Amen."

Neighbors asked about your family, and meant it.

Folks used toothpicks and were still polite.

Bicycling was the popular recreation.

The neighbors got fresh liver at hog-killing.

Men made the same wife do a lifetime.

Folks were looking forward to the possibility of a centennial celebration.

An evening with dominoes or checkers was exciting, and Mom and Pop chased the kids off to bed at eight o'clock.

Nearly every home had its own garden, and the "butter and egg" woman was a weekly visitor.

Nobody worried about inflation, taxes, or a World War.

Fifty-one years ago -- ho-hum!

The same issue of The Evening Times carried the following editorial written by the late Chapin Hall, who at the time of his retirement before his death held an important position with the Los Angeles Examiner:

"The Times is one year old today. It has been a year full of events, of work, of striving, and we are glad to say a fair measure of success. Started when affairs, from the standpoint of a newspaper venture, were anything but inviting and at the very beginning of a heated political campaign, The Times endeavored to provide a newspaper, first of all. How well we succeeded a growing subscription list testified, and an increasing advertising patronage conclusively proved. The Times said in its salutatory that it believed there was a place for it in Warren. Results have proven that we were not mistaken. The opposition was finally forced to succumb, and The Times took its rightful place in the newspaper world and from a business standpoint. The Times has endeavored to correct some abuses and effect some reforms, and has not been wholly unsuccessful in either effort. It is a permanent fixture, and starts its second year with every prospect of a bright future."

MIGHT GUM UP SITUATION

An eastern manufacturer has announced what he describes as a "move to aid reconstruction efforts on the part of the business community of the flood-stricken Kansas City area."

He has offered to replace all wholesalers' stocks of bubble gum which were destroyed by flood waters.

It isn't clear just how this would work. Maybe he figures the gum will keep bubble-popping youngsters busy while Ma and Pa reconstruct. Or perhaps the stuff could be used to plug some holes in the dike. Whatever it is, Kansas City is obviously on the road back.

A project that deserves the attention and support of every citizen is the ninth annual ball game for the benefit of the Underprivileged Children's Fund of the Warren Kiwanis Club, scheduled for the State Hospital field September 8. Tickets are on sale and everyone is urged to cooperate.

If everyone in attendance at the convention held last week in Youngsville failed to have a good time it was not the fault of the Fire Department and the progressive citizens of that community who left nothing undone to assure the success of what without doubt was one of the most outstanding events in the history of the town.

While listening to a radio a Virginia man fell asleep and didn't wake up for three days. We've heard that program, too.

"Would be a great idea if folks had to take out a license to hunt trouble."

Come, Now, Where's That Old Sense of Fair Play?

Here And There

Since this is our 51st birthday anniversary we'll devote a little space in the column today to a review of news briefs from the issue of August 13, 1901:

Kate Watson, "Hoosier Girl," is playing at Irvinedale Park. . . . The so-called "Bloomer Girls" baseball team which endeavored to play yesterday at Recreation Park turned out to be a dismal failure and disappointment, in the first place the dear girls are misnamed, their names fit them like their uniforms "too quick" . . . The street signs in some sections are much in need of tuning up. . . . Gus Cohen and his company will open a week's engagement at Irvinedale park this evening. . . . The capacity at Chautauqua was taxed to the limit for the immense crowd that spent Sunday at that place. . . . The employees of the Struthers Wells Co. wish to extend their thanks to all who contributed to their outing. . . . The "Bloomer Girls" are gone taking with them considerable good Warren cash, and such an exhibition should not be permitted again. . . . Another fad with a large show wagon labeled "A Trip to The Pan-American" held forth Saturday evening which reminds that it is about time for that new ordinance to go into effect outlawing such visitors. . . . Another beautiful Sunday was that of yesterday with lively stables empty and street cars and parks filled. . . . A camp meeting of the Wesleyan Methodist otherwise known as the "Holy Rollers" was terminated at Garland Sunday. . . . Captain Whelock has been notified that he has been named a member of the state camp of the Service-men of the Spanish War. . . . The Sipe Shows introducing novelties in the way of educated wild animals will exhibit on the old fair grounds for two performances on Wednesday. . . . Wednesday will be children's day at the park and everything will be free to the little folks. . . . The baby contest which has been conducted for three weeks by an Indian "medicine man" camping in Richland was decided on Saturday evening and the twins of Mr. and Mrs. George Walters were decided the winners. . . . Notices have been posted on poles in the borough warning bicycle riders of the penalty for riding bikes on the sidewalks, and Mayor Barnhart requests the cooperation of riders, lest they be denied the privilege of riding entirely. . . . The D. A. V. office was entered this morning and $122 in cash and ten mileage books containing 1,000 miles each were taken. . . . S. E. Walker went to Pittsburgh Sunday evening. . . . The Rev. J. C. MacDonald and son Earle Vincent, departed this morning for Rimerburg to spend a week. . . . The fixtures and stock of the Phillips Drug Store were moved today from the Savings Bank Building to the Farmalee Block in Hickory street. . . . The Times is one year old today. Thanks don't care if we do! . . . Dr. Russell is building a one-story office next to his residence in Pennsylvania avenue east. . . . The excursion business to Buffalo from Warren continues good. . . . The works of the Starbuck Company, between Warren and Irvine, have been made a flag station on the D. A. V. & P. R. R. . . . The advance detail of Company I, consisting of five men, will depart for the site of the Second Brigade camp at Somerset Wednesday morning. . . . H. E. Dodge has been selected from among the Y. M. C. A. secretaries of the state to conduct meetings at the camp at Somerset. . . . The baseball team managed by "Billy" Grandin, Jr., of Tidouette, defeated the C. A. C. at Recreation Park by a score of 9 to 6.

Among the advertisers in the Evening Times fifty years ago were: A. S. Bogart, insurance; The Printz Company; Woodard & Co.; Metzger & Hogan; Pickett Hardware Co.; J. K. Weaver; Maybank & Co.; Reg's Pharmacy; Dr. H. E. Barnhart, dentist; George Ott, general contractor; Lew Retterer, tailor; Citizens Steam Laundry, Knox and Wilson; T. W. McNett, undertaker; Crescent Steam Laundry, L. E. Utter proprietor; F. A. Steber, cigars; Struthers, Wells & Co.; Jamestown Wall Paper Co.; Jacob Keller, the tailor; C. B. Hill, bicycles; Pennsylvania Railroad; Saylor & Randall, tailors; D. Shear; Hammond Iron Works; Jarvis & Baker; O. H. Hunter & Son; Allen's cash shoe store; W. C. Bennett Piano Co.; N. Greenlund & Son furniture store.

Potpourri: Passengers aboard the Saturday afternoon bus for Pittsburgh were given a thrill when the vehicle became part of the big Firemen's parade in Youngsville, after Sgt. Jim Vaughn permitted it to enter behind the Meadville delegation, so that those aboard would not be delayed too long in reaching destinations. . . . The old Titusville steam engine featured in the parade reminded of the "Rufus P. King" which used to be a Warren relic until it was disposed of during the war. . . . Folks down Youngsville way should take a bow for the excellent manner in which they handled the arrangements for the Firemen's convention, down to the most minute detail. . . . Warren visitors to the Bradford-McKean Airport in connection with the dedication program over the week-end report a most interesting and delightful time, with the committees sparing no efforts to make certain that all guests were well

Times Publishing Company Celebrating 51st Birthday Anniversary

How the site of the first home of the Times Publishing Company at 335 Pennsylvania Avenue, West, looks today.

This is the 51st birthday anniversary of the founding of The Times Publishing Company, an event that is being celebrated quietly and without any special ceremony.

Founded by S. E. Walker, father of the present publisher, W. A. Walker, August 13, 1900, the Times Publishing Company has for about 23 years been publishing the Warren Times-Mirror, sole survivor of numerous daily and weekly papers that were launched and either absorbed or suspended during the past half century. The principles of the present paper remain the same as were expounded in the first issue of The Evening Times back in 1900, but the composition, content and size bear little resemblance to each other.

The publisher and the Times-Mirror family are proud of the age of the paper. Down through the years those who have followed in the footsteps of the founder and his early associates have endeavored faithfully to carry out the visions, promises and high ideals as set forth in the first edition 51 years ago. Ever mindful of these pledges and hopes we move into another year determined to strive unceasingly to merit the confidence of the community we serve.

We reprint below an interesting article that appeared in The Evening Times fifty years ago today, on the occasion of the first anniversary of the paper:

(Reprint from The Evening Times of August 13, 1901)

ANNIVERSARY

The Evening Times Is Just One Year Old This Afternoon

We Talk a Few Moments About Ourselves and the Events of the Past 365 Days.

Modesty is unquestionably a virtue. Being a virtue, The Times endeavors to be modest. There comes times, however, when it is permitted even to newspapers to slop over a little, and hand themselves a perfect. These times are usually recognized, as with individuals, at each recurring anniversary of the birth of the recipient or the figurative handshakes. Apropos of the foregoing paragraph it is pertinent to remark that The Times is one year old this afternoon. One year is not a great while as measured by history, or science, or events, but in the life of a newspaper it is sometimes a long and weary period, and not unfrequently the period is a full stop.

The Times is a respecter of age, except in eggs-and chorus girls. It believes that age mellowes all things, including fruit. One year is not very old. In fact many infants at that age are still capable of making considerable noise. The Times is an infant, decidedly lusty and robust infant, and the several thousand persons who have indicated an interest in its welfare are ready to testify that the young one is not backward in making known its wants and complaints.

The Times came onto the carpet in troublesome times. There were "wars and rumors of wars". It was on the eve of a great political battle. Some were unkind enough to say that The Times was a campaign paper, and would find a resting place in some obscure journalistic burying ground ere the idea of November had merged into the chilling blasts of December. The Warren Mail, a paper published in this city, even went so far as to assure its readers that on and after Thanksgiving Day, 1900, The Times would be no more. On Thanksgiving Day, 1900, we ate turkey and were thankful, and inexpressible as it was to the Mail, appeared as usual on the following evening.

During the campaign this paper supported to the best of its ability the candidacy of Lewis Emery, Jr., for Congress, and the Democratic national ticket, not because it was a "political paper", for The Times was never that, but because it believed that the respective causes advocated were right. When the ballots were counted it was found that the majority of the voters differed from The Times.

The campaign was one of the bitterest ever waged in Pennsylvania, and The Times cannot but look with pleasure upon so virulent a contest out of which it emerged, defeated, but a better newspaper than ever before, a clear record, not a few enemies, and hundreds of friends.

From that time forward the career of the paper has been one of increasing influence and prosperity. Coming into an already overcrowded field, its main rival, the Press, was forced to succumb in March of this year, and was absorbed by this paper. New machinery has constantly been added to the plant, until it is now one of the best equipped in this part of the state. The paper is of linotype composition, and scarcely any plate matter is used in its make-up.

The Times believed that there was room in Warren for a newspaper that was not afraid to speak out in meeting. To present facts that the public should know, was entitled to know, fearlessly and fairly. That policy has been followed out, and during the year many reforms have been brought about through the mediumship of The Times. It kept aloof from any clique, presenting only the broader aspect of daily events, without personal feeling, permitting those whom the shoe fitted to put it on.

The news, The Times has endeavored to present in as fresh and reliable a form as is possible for a daily newspaper to do. So far as practicable every story coming to the office is investigated and the facts presented as they actually exist. With all precautions taken The Times has made many errors that could not have been more displeasing to those involved than they were to us. Such errors it is impossible to keep from a daily paper. No matter how careful the watch they, somehow, creep in, to confound and perhaps seriously embarrass. For these errors of omission and commission we can only ask forgiveness. Not one of them was intentional, not one but would have been avoided had it been discovered in time.

The Times is glad it is one year old. It is glad it has so many friends. It is glad it has a few enemies, for without them a newspaper would not amount to a great deal. It is glad that it is here to thank its friends for their liberal support and encouragement during the past 365 days. It is going to stay, because it finds life a rather pleasing occupation after all, and enjoys meeting each evening so many genial, happy, prosperous and contented people. It is glad that life is worth the living, and that there is no cloud without a silver lining. It is glad that it is usually seen the silver lining.

As our friend, the showman, would say: "We thank you, one and all, for your kind attention during our long and, we trust, interesting performance. We will remain in 'your midst' for an indefinite period, presenting each evening an entire change of bill, with new features and new specialties. We want you to buy a season ticket, for we believe that you will get your money's worth, and we want you to bring all your friends with you. Remember, ladies and gentlemen, that the show in the big tent is not yet half over, and while the agents pass among you for your subscriptions the entertainment known as 'Volume two' will continue.

The Times is grateful. Grateful for the confidence displayed in the paper from its inception, and none the less grateful because we believed and believe that the confidence was merited. We believe that our advertisers have no reason to regret their allegiance, and we believe that the subscribers who have come to us in such numbers as to make the paper one of the most valuable to advertisers have no reason to regret their allegiance. It shall be the purpose and aim of The Times to grow better and brighter each and every day, and to merit the good will of the public, that it is the aim of every newspaper to possess. The paper is here, on solid foundation; it believes that there is a place for it, and that it is possible to dwell in peace and amity with its neighbors. On August 13, 1900, The Times enrolled itself as a member of the "Lucky 13" club, and although we were told that it was dying in the face of providence to chance a newspaper upon the stormy billows on the 13th, we have no reason to doubt the efficacy of the organization.

Among several other things that The Times said in its first issue was this, and the result has showed that we were not mistaken. "The Times believes that the people of Warren, and of Warren county, will give their confidence and support to an honest, straightforward publication, one that assumes a position and stands by its guns; a publication that is first of all a newspaper, reliable and readable, a paper that is loyal to its friends and to its party. It is the purpose to make The Times as good as the best, and to this end our efforts will ever be directed. 'With malice toward none and charity to all' we await the verdict."

Many Nominations Are Decided by the Drawing of Lots

Nominations for 24 various offices throughout the townships of Warren county had to be decided, Friday, by drawing lots at the Court House. This was a result of tied nominations, often resulting from write-ins, in the Republican primaries.

Candidates drew lots themselves, had a representative on hand to draw, or, if not represented, the County Commissioners chose someone to draw.

Results were as follows: Brokenstraw: Thomas Drayer for Justice of the Peace; Clinton Johnson and Donald Mills, for school director, two to be elected; Kermit Vicander for auditor.

Elk: Charles Spitz for assessor. Kinzua: Carl Schroeder and Hulma Bennett, for school director, two to be elected; Audis Hazzard, for auditor.

Limestone: Glenn Miller, for school director. Mead: Angelo R. Bruno and Norman Grosch, for school director.

Pine Grove: William Martin, for auditor. Pleasant: Floyd Wilbur, for supervisor; Hubert Skinner for Justice of the Peace Pittsfield, 2nd District: James C. Briggs, for judge of elections. Bear Lake: Bernarr Whitely, Archie Woodin and Clarence Sechrist, for councilman. Southwest: Russell Rodgers, for justice of the peace. Triumph: Albert Peterson, for constable. Tidoute Borough: G. B. Chase, Elmer Peterson, and George King, for council; Bernard Whiteley and Jean Zahk, school director for six years. Cherry Grove: Kate Johnson and Ariel McCulla, school director. Columbus: D. E. Bindley, for constable. Corydon: Harry Tome, for supervisor. Eldred: Mrs. Vivian VanGuilder, for school director. Deerfield: John Garus, for supervisor; Stanley Kowalski, for constable. Farmington: K. Dale Skinner and Donald Ludwig, school director for 6-year term; Elsie Putnam, for inspector of elections.

HERE AND THERE

Cared for. . . Already many of the members of the Jaycees are making early preliminary plans for a Fourth of July celebration in 1952. . . It was perhaps one of the busiest weekends members of the Warren Boy Choir will ever experience but according to reports they all survived in wonderful shape, thanks to the excellent arrangements that had been made by those in charge and the fine treatment accorded the boys on the tour. . . Four men employed by the National Forge & Ordnance Co. who on July 24th discovered a smoking hot box on an eastbound Pennsylvania Railroad freight train and waved a warning to the conductor in the caboose are to be rewarded in an appropriate manner for their alertness in helping to avert what could have been a serious wreck.

Letters to the Editor

Warren, Pa., Aug. 11, 1951
Dear Mr. Editor,

Nothing much has been stated publicly about the species of snake which struck one of our young men some weeks ago and no doubt caused his recent death. For the sake of safety may I make the suggestion that we beware of rather short and fat "blacksnakes".

The snake which brought sorrow to a lot of us here was something less than four feet long and too large in girth for a common blacksnake. Its fangs tore the flesh while the fine teeth of the blacksnake could not have done that. It was a fighter and our blacksnake is not.

There are some who smile at the suggestion that a moccasin would be about here but they have been in the past. There are natives of the county who can tell of killing them and describe them perfectly. They were present in a swamp near my home in the southern part of the state.

Let's be careful about any short fat "blacksnakes" which we may encounter near our streams. Moccasins, when mature, frequently turn so black that their markings are very much obscured. In fact the snake which struck our friend apparently was not killed but only stunned. It was seen headed back for the creek. Just give these odd "blacksnakes" lots of room and tell your children to do likewise.

MRS. JOHN LAMPE ROBERTSON

A fan motif in delicate summer flowers was used throughout the bridal appointments Saturday, August 11, by Rachel Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clare Smith, 26 Water street, for her marriage to John Lampe Robertson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Radle Robertson, 412 West Third avenue.

The ceremony was performed at 4:30 p. m. in Trinity Memorial Episcopal church by its rector, the Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge. White pom poms and bunched, with blue delphinium, were used in altar vases, a background of greens extending to flanking baskets of the same flowers. Aisle pews were marked with tiny fan sprays matching bouquets of the entire bridal party.

As guests assembled, Jean Robertson, aunt of the bridegroom and Trinity organist, played a half-hour recital, using music of Mulet, Barber, Bach, Widor and Wagner. The soloist was Dr. Ross Byran, Jr., Lakehurst, N. J., who sang Barnaby's "O Perfect Love."

The bride's tip-toe gown was of white starched chiffon with scattered floral sprays and bowknots, worn over white satin. The bodice was buttoned to a high neckline finished with small, pointed collar, sleeves were long and fitted and the full skirt was scalloped about the hemline. A bonnet made of tiny folds of the gown's material held her fingertip veil and her white prayer book was covered with lilies of the valley and fleur d'amour.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, she had as her maid of honor Carolyn Muser, Ridge-wood, N. J., and bridesmaids, Carol Wiggins, White Plains, N. Y., and Dorothea Pappas, Milton, Pa., college classmates, and Susan Robertson, sister of the bridegroom. Ann Finley was her cousin's junior bridesmaid. They were gownned alike in short ballerina frocks of delphinium blue cotton lace over satin, with low, scalloped necklines and wide shoulder straps in satin to match their contour belts. Satin bands curved over their ears to hold veiling which matched their hair in color; their flowers were fan arrangements of bachelor buttons, delphinium pinks and blues. John Knapp, Buffalo, was best man for Mr. Robertson, with Jack Harrington, William Hill, Jr., Dr. Lane Wroth of Baltimore, and Clyde C. Smith, 2nd, brother of the bride, as ushers.

The bride's mother chose a gown of champagne colored Chantilly lace, with coral velvet hat, and wore a rubrum lily corsage. Mrs. Robertson's gown was of gray chiffon, accessories were pink velvet and her corsage was of pink gladioli.

A string trio played for the reception which followed at the Woman's Club, where the fan motif was continued with maline and summer flowers in table settings and completed on the stage with a large fan flanked by bouquets of delphinium and gladioli.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibb, Jr., Lancaster; Capt. and Mrs. R. E. Elliott, Richard Elliott, Jr., Annapolis, Md.; Dr. and Mrs. Ross Bryan, Jr., Lakehurst, N. J.; Mrs. Henry Mackall, Minneapolis, Minn.; Henry Mackall, Jr., Vandalia, O.; Mr. and Mrs. J. He is a graduate of Warren High School and of University of Pennsylvania. His bride, graduate of Warren High School, Bradford Junior College, Bradford, Mass., and Pennsylvania State College, is employed by the Philadelphia Electric Company.

Some Interesting Shots Taken During Firemen's Parade at Youngsville

Convention Highlight—A few of the highlights of the big North-western Pennsylvania Volunteer Firemen's Association Parade in Youngsville Saturday afternoon pass before the cameraman. Seventy-five fire companies, bands, drum and bugle corps and other marching units participated, and the procession, climax to the week-long firemen's convention, was witnessed by a crowd estimated between 13,000 and 15,000.

In the photos above taken by Phil Coyle, the Lakewood, N. Y., firemen (left) present a snappy appearance. Their truck won a $25 award for the best fully equipped rescue truck.

Center photo shows the Youngsville Firemen's color guard which led the long parade. Photo at right brought back nostalgic memories to old-timers watching the procession, and probably was the first time a lot of youngsters had ever seen an old horse-drawn "steamer". The apparatus is owned by the Titusville Fire Department, and was awarded a $25 prize as the oldest piece of apparatus in the procession.

Other prize winners were:
Best band: Warren V.F.W., first, $75; North East, Pa., second, $35.
Best drum corps: Jamestown Vikings, first, $75; Johnsonburg Central Hose, second, $35.
Best Ladies Auxiliary: Celoron, first, $25.
Best equipped triple combination truck: Conneautville, first, $25; Rocky Grove, second, $15.
Best fully equipped squad truck: Meadville, first, $25.
Best fully equipped fire truck: Conneautville, first, $25; Springboro, second, $15.

Best fully equipped fire truck, city of 3000 or less: Tidioute, first, $25.

Best drill team: Titusville Junior Marines, first, $25.

Best appearing organization of 25 men or more: Celoron fire department, first, $30.

Best comic unit: Pleasant Township Firemen, first, $25.

Band or corps coming longest distance: Welland, Ontario, first, $25.

Unit coming longest distance with 20 or more men in uniform: Meadville, first, $25.

Fire truck coming longest distance: Welland, Ontario, first, $25.

Unit coming longest distance with apparatus and 20 or more men: Vernon Township, first, $25.

Awards of $25 each to the Russell Fire Department and the Youngsville high school bands also were made.

Prizes distributed totalled $705.

The project was the largest of any event ever staged by the Youngsville fire department, and a lot of credit is due every member of the fire department, the auxiliary, and a great many Youngsville citizens who pitched in to make the convention a complete success. Most of the firemen were busy yesterday and today cleaning up the debris left in the wake of the parade.

Youngsville firemen said that, while all bills are not in, they are certain that all expenses of the convention will be taken care of with a little to spare. This is in contrast to last year's convention when the celebration went in the red.

Rites Tuesday For Patient at Rouse Killed by Freight

Services in memory of Joseph Mickie (or Miklick), 73, who met instant death Saturday evening about 6:15 o'clock when he was mangled under a westbound Pennsylvania Railroad freight while walking between the rails near the eastern limits of Youngsville borough, will be held Tuesday morning, at St. Luke's church in Irvine, with the Rev. Father Edward Jacobs, of Tidioute, officiating. Interment will be in the cemetery at Rouse Hospital.

Mr. Mickie, resident of the Rouse Hospital most of the time since 1947 when he was admitted from Sheffield, was killed instantly when he was run down by the freight under circumstances that indicate that he may have been confused by the fact that a second freight eastbound, was passing at the same time on the nearby New York Central tracks.

Investigation revealed that Mickie, who was a little deaf, had been to the Home, and was en route back to Youngsville. Eyewitnesses said that he was walking between the rails, rather than on the cinder path alongside the right-of-way. He was west of what is known as the Hendrickson crossing when the train, going west overtook him. The engineer, C. E. Eps, R. D. J. Westfield, stated that he observed the man and sounded the horn on the diesel, not only as a warning to the pedestrian, but also for the crossing. His statement was verified by eyewitnesses sitting on nearby lawns, one of whom shouted a warning to Mr. Mickie.

The elderly man is believed to have been confused by the second train approaching the crossing from the west.

Identification was made by names on articles of clothing he was wearing written upon them when assigned to him.

The train was known as "W-5", drawn by three diesel units. H. E. Snyder, of Erie, conductor. He stopped immediately and it was necessary to cut the train at the point of the impact to remove the remains.

Removal was made to the Young Funeral Home.

Surviving are a half brother, Rudolph Miklick, and a niece Ella

Boy Choir Receives Ovation at Akron Banquet

The Warren Boy Choir and adults who accompanied them to Akron, O., where they sang Sunday evening on the program when the winners of the All American Soapbox Derby were presented with awards, arrived home about 5:30 o'clock this morning, tired but happy and elated over a thrilling weekend which included attendance at the Indian-White Sox game in the Cleveland Stadium Saturday night, sightseeing tours of Cleveland and Akron, special seats for the Soapbox Derby Sunday afternoon, and various other events which made the trip one that will always live in the memory of the young singers, their director and other adults who made the trip. The choir was given a tremendous ovation at the banquet in mammoth Goodyear auditorium, Akron, Sunday evening, when they featured during the program incident to the awarding of prizes to the winners. The trip was without any accidents or mishaps to mar the pleasure of the Warren delegation.

Akron, O., Aug. 13.—(P)—Tall, slender Darwin Cooper, 15, a shy boy who built his sleek black racer in the dining room of his home in Danville, Pa., is the hero of the Susquehanna Valley today.

The black-browed lad rode to victory in the 14th All American Soapbox Derby here yesterday to give Pennsylvania its first national champion in the history of the event.

The All-American champ, running under the colors of the Williamsport Sun-Gazette, defeated 140 winners from the U. S., Canada, Alaska and the U. S. zone of Germany.

Darwin's steelworker father, William, his mother Elizabeth, and a cousin, Donalton, who was second in last year's All-American were there to watch. While the overflow crowd of 80,000 cheered, Cooper roared across the finish line ahead of Raymond Marconi of Gary, Ind., who placed second, and Paul F. (Freddie) Albright of Jefferson City, Mo., who was third. The winner still is to decide where he will take the $5,000 scholarship he won.

There were seven heats raced in less than 28 seconds, and Cooper had four of them—but not the fastest. That was posted by Thomas R. Gore, of Atlanta, Ga., who won his second round in 27.83. Cooper eliminated Gore in a photo finish third round.

The Girl Next Door

By Peggy Gaddis

Chapter 26
"HERE, here, Betsy," Peter said gently, "stop drowning me! You're crying all over my nice clean shirt—and you know how easily white shirts get dirty. Snap out of it, youngster. This whole thing is a mistake. You're imagining things."

"No, Pete." She sat up and mopped her eyes with a sudden scrap of a handkerchief. "Celia—that's Marcia's cook—told Esther this morning that Marcia was leaving for New York. I went over to see. Marcia was getting packed, and—well, I guess I said some pretty hateful things. But they were the truth, Pete. She's lower than anything that crawls, for walking out on you."

"Betsy," said Peter a trifle wryly, "if only I could convince you that I am old enough to manage my own affairs—"

"You never seem to realize that I'm old enough to manage mine."

Peter grinned. "Well, this fantastic tale you are telling me, my pet, certainly doesn't make you seem very grown up, if I may say so."

"You may say anything to me you like, any time, anywhere, and I'll love it," said Betsy. "Because I love you."

"Betsy, you're forgetting something."

"I don't think so."

"You were just giving Marcia a nice going-over for breaking her engagement to me because it suited her convenience. Aren't you forgetting that you are engaged to Bo?" Peter pointed out.

"Oh, but that's different."

"Why is it? Just because I'm blind?"

There was a moment of silence, and then Peter said, "Don't you see, Betsy! I don't want any special favors just because I'm blind. If I had been in love with Marcia, my heart would be—well, maybe not broken, but at least permanently damaged. I acknowledged a little while ago that my first feeling was one of relief. I think I was just grateful to her because she treated me exactly as she treated the other fellows."

"I guess I let myself be fooled into thinking it was love. The first time I kissed her and held her in my arms, there was a queer, let-down feeling. And I dreamed the thought of leaving Centerville, of living in New York apartment, among strangers, who would inevitably be Marcia's friends, not mine. Finally I had the uneasy suspicion that I had deluded myself, but I couldn't see any way out. Now do you begin to see why I wasn't upset when Marcia broke the engagement?"

"And I killed her, because I thought she'd hurt you terribly! And I was glad."

"Betsy, you lawless little idiot!" said Peter helplessly.

PROFESSOR HARTLEY was coming back from the house, moving surely, swiftly, his face alight.

"It's all right, Betsy. She's not seriously injured," he said. "She has a bad bruise on her temple, and she was knocked out for a few minutes. But the doctor has just left, and he said she would be able to travel by tomorrow, at the latest."

"Thank Heaven!" said Peter. Betsy drew a deep, hard breath. "I guess I was mistaken. I didn't think I minded injuring her—even killing her. But now—oh, I'm so ashamed of myself!"

"I should think you would be," announced Peter.

"I'd better go. Tell Professor Hartley I'll see him again soon."

Brushing Peter's restraining hand aside, she went running across the lawn and down the drive. She was walking slowly along the street toward home when a car slid to the curb, and she looked up to see Edith behind the wheel. Edith was obviously angry, but her voice was quite steady as she said, "Get in, Betsy."

"You needn't have come for me, Mother."

"I was a little afraid of what you might do if you were left to get home alone," said Edith, and sent the car rushing up the street.

SHE did not speak again until they were in Betsy's room upstairs, and then she said, "Betsy, I can't tell you how shocked I am in you. You've done a terrible thing, a disgraceful thing. Do you realize that you might easily have killed Marcia?"

Betsy shivered, but she answered with her usual devastating honesty. "I think maybe I wanted to kill her."

"Betsy!" Edith gasped. "Oh, what I am going to do with you?"

Betsy tried to grin, but it wasn't a success. "I guess maybe you'd better give me back to the stork that brought me. She struggled hard for a flippancy far removed from her real feelings."

For a moment Edith studied her, something very close to despair in her eyes. She could find no words; what was the good of words? She'd battered herself to bits with words that had glanced away from Betsy's youthful self-absorption and had no effect whatsoever on the girl.

"Well," she said, "life must go on, I suppose. You'll have to be getting dressed. It's almost six o'clock."

Betsy looked at her warily. "Almost six?" she repeated.

"The moonlight picnic, dear, that the Evanses are giving for you and Bo. Remember? Bo is to call for you at six-thirty." Edith reminded her.

Betsy's face clouded with rebellion. "Oh, but must I go?"

"I think so—don't you?" For a moment their eyes locked, and it was Betsy's that fell away first. She nodded miserably. "Yes, I guess so," she admitted. An hour later she watched Bo help Betsy into his car as though she were something infinitely precious. Then they drove away, the very picture of carefree youth.

DOUBLE HIGH BID IS A GOOD RULE
By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
We have been discussing penalty doubles all week, and yesterday we got around to the late, penalty double when both sides are in the auction. The general principal when both sides are competing is to double a high bid to show good defense. It follows that you take pains not to double when your values are as good for offense as for defense.
Before we get tangled up in a web of words let's look at an example. West's double of three spades is a cooperative double. He asks his partner to bid any long make sure that East was shut out. Now the East hand is certainly not a defensive type. It will play perfectly well at any suit but spades. Hence there was no reason for East to double four spades. When he did double, his partner had to accept the decision. South naturally made four spades in a walk. He conceded two hearts and a diamond, claiming the rest. Instead of doubling, East should bid four no-trump. An expert partner would know that East could not want to play at that contract and could not be making a slam try. The only possible meaning of the bid is: "Partner, bid your own best suit. I can support the three unbid suits about equally well." West would bid five diamonds and probably would not be doubled. He would be set one trick by normal defense but would be overjoyed to save the rubber at a cost of only 100 points.

REDS TAKE IT, YANKS DISH IT OUT—Thousands of members of the Freie Deutsche Jugend, Communist youth organization, flocked into East Berlin for their great anti-Western rally. Everything was ducky until they discovered that the Communist efficiency had overlooked the fact that they might want to eat. Food supplies ran out—and the hungry Red youngsters quickly ran over to West Berlin, where, as seen above, they were very glad to scoff at the expense of capitalist Uncle Sam. Photo shows them on free-loading chow line at U. S. Army camp, with Capt. Carolyn H. Jones, of Bethlehem, Pa., supervising the hand-outs.

THE MARKETS

New York, Aug. 13.—P—An early advance in the stock market was halted today and pushed back in several important areas. Gains and losses among leaders seldom went more than a dollar either way, however, and there was no appreciable amount of selling pressure. Rails were generally lower, and there was pronounced backwardness in rubbers, farm implements, aircrafts, chemicals, and radio-television issues. Railroads now are estimating the amount they will gain from the 6 to 9 per cent freight rate increase granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission last week. The roads had petitioned for 15 per cent. Few if any railroad executives appear satisfied with the amount of the additional revenue.

Hal Boyle's Comment

St. Paul, Minn.—P—Does your wife tell her to grow her own hair? Well, tell her to grow her own hair. All it takes is a couple of chinchillas and a little time—say five to ten years. Then she should have enough chinchillas to make herself a fur coat that sold for $30,000 a generation ago.

Raising chinchillas today is one of America's fastest growing livestock industries. Some 5,000 people in the United States and Canada now are breeding the chinchillas for fun or profit. A pair of the animals sell anywhere from $600 to $1,650.

Dale Mathews, 22, an Army veteran who has graduated this year from the University of Minnesota, is a typical chinchilla rancher.

"When I got out of the Army in 1947 I had saved up some money," he said. "It was a question with me of investing it or spending it on clothes and a new car. In May of 1948 I bought a pair of chinchillas for $1,400."

Dale now has 12 of the valuable pearl gray little animals, and recently sold a pair that got him back his original investment.

"In ten years I should have a stock herd of 200 or 300, not counting others I expect to sell," he said. "I intend to raise them as a sideline only, but they can be made into a real business. There are people now making $15,000 to $20,000 a year from them."

Chinchillas, natives of the Andes Mountains, were hunted almost to extinction by 1919, when they rose to $135. In 1923 M. F. Chapman, a mining man, succeeded in bringing 11 to this country. Most of the 50,000 to 60,000 chinchillas now in this country stem from his animals.

"It will take another seven years before the chinchilla fur market develops," Mathews said. "The industry needs 500,000 to 1,000,000 pelts a year before it can really get going."

But raising the hardy little animals—they only weigh about a pound—is no trouble.

"It costs only about $3 a year to feed one," he said. "And a man can easily take care of 100 pairs and still carry on a full time job."

What makes chinchilla fur prized is its fabulously soft texture. Only one hair grows in a human follicle; 60 to 70 sprout from a chinchilla follicle.

Chinchillas look like a cross between a small rabbit and a white mouse. They eat grain pellets and vegetables, are nocturnal, friendly and monogamous. Mama bosses the family.

"If you put another female in with a mated pair," said Mathews, "the wife immediately starts a fight with her. She doesn't want her in the same pen."

The chinchillas mate—usually for life—at six months, have one to three litters a year, and live to be ten to twelve.

"They are vermin-free and odorless, and about the only disease they ever get is constipation," said Mathews. "Usually you can cure it with one raisin."

He expects pelts to average $100 or more, but says even if they drop to $25 he can still make money from them. As a fully grown chinchilla weighs only about a pound, it takes 150 skins to make a fur coat.

The question of legalizing the sale of colored oleo in Pennsylvania has been a stormy question in the legislature for years. Although past proposals have been defeated, the present bill, which restricts sales for home use only, is expected to win approval.

Another big issue, coming up for a final vote in the general assembly tomorrow, is a controversial proposal to increase truck weight limits on highways.

Ed Shanshala - Paul Shattuck Star in District Gridiron Tilt

Warren's Ed Shanshala proved worthy of his selection to the Northwest District All-Star football team last year, when he sparked the District All-Stars in their 25-0 win over an Erie County combination in the area's opening grid classic of 1951 at Meadville Friday night.

A starter in the game from Warren was Paul Shattuck, a mainstay in District's forward wall which proved an obstacle for Coach Joe Bach's Erie team.

Princeton's Dick Coleman used the single wing in setting up his attack that blasted Erie's T-formation wide open before 2500 fans in the second victory registered by a District eleven in the six years of Edinboro's Coaching Clinic.

Shanshala, along with George Sveda (Farrell), Larry Gocella (Bradford), and John Harris (Franklin), made up a quartet of District backs that ran wild over the Erie defense.

District drew first blood in the first period when Shanshala found Greenville's Myron Bright in the end zone with a 20 yard aerial. Harris ripped off 32 yards in the second quarter, the longest run in the game, to set up the second score for District. Larry Gocella bucked over the line for the tally, and Harris kicked for the extra point to make it 13-0.

Before the intermission Shanshala again sparked the victor's attack with a 17 yard pass to Harris. He then took to the ground and tore loose around right end on a reverse to touch pay dirt for District's third TD.

Erie's only threat came two minutes before the gun, after John Erickson, of Wesleyville, made good with two passes to bring Erie down to District's four yard line.

The final scoring came in the last period when Erie fumbled and James Vermille, of Farrell, recovered to give District possession on their own 49. Sveda passed to Meadville's Dave Kiser for 16 yards to the Erie 35, and then picked up 19 more himself. Harris racked up eight and Sveda plunged through the middle for the final touchdown.

Bobby Feller Will Be Cheered Tonight By Former 'Booers'

Cleveland, Aug. 13.—(P)—Bob Feller steps up to home plate in Cleveland Stadium tonight to be honored before cheering fans—many of whom booed and cried he was "washed up" only two years ago.

The 32-year-old dean of the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff then goes to the mound against the Detroit Tigers. The first major league hurler this year to win 18 games, he's beaten the Tigers all three previous times he pitched against them this campaign.

But characteristically, Feller's worrying about winning—about keeping Cleveland in the American League lead and extending the team's longest winning string of a decade—10 games.

"I hope I don't louse up the night with a bad pitching performance," was his first reaction to a night in his honor.

While league leading Jamestown was losing three in a row, the Olean Oilers rode over the Hornell Dodgers, taking their series, 3 out of 4, knocking the Falcons' edge down to just 2½ games today.

Olean whalloped Hornell last night, and took over second place by two percentage points. The Dodgers were in second after Saturday's romp over the Oilers, 16-3. Meanwhile, a jittery and pressure-worn Jamestown nine dropped their third straight loss tonight, this time to Hamilton, 6-3. Jim Stump lost his second in a row after taking 11 straight.

Batavia added another defeat to Jamestown's woes Saturday, 5-1. In other games last night, Bradford swept a double header from Batavia, 6-3 and 5-2. Wellsville's Jack Morales looped a ninth-inning single to drive in the winning run against Corning in a 2-1 win.

Hamilton and Bradford added victories Saturday, the Cardinals edging Wellsville, 6-4, and the Phillies squeezing by the Corning A's, 6-5.

Today's schedule: Jamestown at Bradford (2), Batavia at Olean, Wellsville at Hamilton and Hornell at Corning.
